

Edinburgh is extremely rich in the number and variety of its libraries. It may be easier and quicker to use these libraries than to use our Inter-Library Loans Service. They all have online catalogues which can be accessed from the web addresses provided here.

Edinburgh Napier University staff and students will be able to gain access to most libraries, but you may have to go through certain formalities first. Check before you go!

Many of these libraries participate in the SCONUL Access scheme, see below. Staff and students should carry personal identification (e.g. a current staff or matriculation card) at all times. If in doubt on a particular library's rules or the need to complete an application form, please check in one of our campus libraries.

SCONUL Access scheme

This scheme allows students and staff from UK universities to use other university libraries. The level of access Edinburgh Napier members can have depends on your status here:

- Full-time undergraduate students - consultation access only (unless you choose to pay external member fees).
- Part-time students, distance learners, students on placements of more than 10 weeks, postgraduate students – limited borrowing permitted.
- Academic staff and researchers – limited borrowing permitted.

You can apply for SCONUL Access by visiting their website at <http://www.sconul.ac.uk/sconul-access>. Follow the instructions on screen and wait till you receive an email confirming your application has been approved.

How do I know if another library has the journal I need?

Try using SUNCAT. This is a union list of serials in UK academic libraries:

<http://suncat.ac.uk>

It allows you to enter words from the title of journals and limit your search to Edinburgh, to help you find a library with the journal you need. SUNCAT also provides links to catalogues and access information for each library.

NATIONAL LIBRARY OF SCOTLAND

GEORGE IV BRIDGE

<http://www.nls.uk>

Stock: as one of the UK's five copyright deposit libraries, the NLS receives all material published in the UK. There is a special emphasis on Scottish life and culture.

The NLS has an important role to preserve material for the future, so it expects you to have exhausted all other library sources before approaching it. Most items have to be fetched for you from closed storage areas. You can pre-order and reserve items before you visit.

Access: consultation only, no borrowing.

- use their catalogue in advance
- identify specific items not held in our own stock
- note their NLS shelf marks
- pre-order/reserve the items you need

Undergraduate and Postgraduate students: from 1st July 2016 students apply directly to the NLS for a General Reader's Library Card which is valid for 3 years.

All teaching and research staff can apply for reader's cards on production of their staff card.

Some services are available remotely to registered members – see
